Jenna Juday married into the Ideal Industries family and has been active in the Family Council for fourteen years. She helped establish and now serves as Chair for the family's Development and Education Committee. Part of the work of the committee is developing well qualified family leaders and family directors for the business. Jenna's personal career is as a neuroscience nurse working in a hospital in Urbana, IL. In addition to her work "on the floor", she has helped establish and currently teaches a class for inpatient stroke survivors and their families. She has also spent time teaching yoga. Jenna enjoys making the connections between all of her endeavors and believes good communication, respect, and compassion are vital elements in many fields, including family business.
